How To Order Center of Military History (CMH) Publications

This brochure is organized by major series, moving back in time from recent operations to the Revolution. To help you find publications, the brochure ends with an appendix on CMH publication (CMH Pub) numbers and titles (again by series), an index of authors, and an index of titles. Below, we describe how you may order copies of CMH publications. For research purposes, titles are also available at most of the federal depository libraries. For an electronic version of this catalog, go to <http://www.army.mil/cmh-pg/catalog/brochure.htm>.

Army Requisitions:

All of the publications in this brochure are available to holders of Army publication accounts. Army policy provides accounts to:

- Active Army units that are detachment size and larger and staff sections from division level to Headquarters, Department of the Army (HQDA);
- Army Reserve units that are company size and larger and staff sections from division level to HQDA; and
- Army National Guard units that are company size and larger and staff sections from division level to state adjutants general.

Units not described above may be authorized accounts by submitting their requests through command channels to: Manager, Directorate of Logistics—Washington, Media Distribution Division, ATTN: JDHQSVPAS, 1655 Woodson Road, St. Louis, MO 63114–6128.

CMH publications are available for official educational, training, and commemorative purposes within the Army without reimbursement. In turn, CMH titles are not in the commonly known DA 12 series.

Account holders can requisition departmental publications and forms by accessing the Army Publishing Directorate's (APD) Web site, <http://www.apd.army.mil>, going to the pull-down menu Orders/Subscriptions/Reports, and then selecting Pubs/Forms Ordering System. If you need additional assistance, contact APD customer service at (314) 592-0910, or e-mail inquiries via the Customer Service link on the APD Web site.

Prior coordination is required through CMH to requisition more than 25 copies of any one title (see the address at the end of this section).

Requisitions by Other Military Services

Other military services requiring CMH publications for official use can obtain copies by forwarding a request, on agency letterhead, to: Army Publishing Directorate, Distribution Operations Facility, 1655 Woodson Road, St. Louis, MO 63114–6128.

Unless prior arrangements have been made with CMH, the number requested cannot exceed 10 copies of any one title for cloth and 25 copies for paper (see the address at the end of this section).

Sale to the Public

Most of the titles listed in this catalog are available to the general public from the Government Printing Office (GPO). If you are interested in buying any of these publications, you will need the GPO stock numbers (S/N) included here. To check GPO prices and availability, go to GPO's Online Bookstore at <http://bookstore.gpo.gov/>, or call (202) 512-1800 or toll-free 1-866-512-1800.

Publications marked in this catalog with an asterisk are not for sale by GPO. However, you can go to the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) Web site, <http://www.ntis.gov>, and click on the link NTIS Products. There, you can find out the availability and cost of the publications you want. You may also contact NTIS by mail or phone: National Technical Information Service, Department of Commerce, 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161–2171; or call (703) 605-6000 or 1-800-553-6847.

Contacting CMH

Any questions about this catalog or requests to requisition more than 25 copies of any one title should be addressed to: U.S. Army Center of Military History, Office of Production Services (DAMH–PSE), 103 Third Avenue, Fort Lesley J. McNair, D.C. 20319–5058; or fax (202) 685-4578.

PUBLICATIONS

Recent Operations

THE WHIRLWIND WAR: THE UNITED STATES ARMY IN OPERATIONS DESERT SHIELD AND DESERT STORM, gen. eds. Frank N. Schubert and Theresa L. Kraus. (1995, 2001; 312 pp., tables, charts, maps, illustrations, appendixes, index). CMH Pub 70-30, cloth, GPO S/N 008-029-00283-3; CMH Pub 70-30-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00284-1.

This volume is an overview of the U.S. Army's role in the coalition force arrayed against Iraq during Operations DESERT SHIELD and DESERT STORM. It also explains the changes that had taken place in the Army since the Vietnam War which produced a force that was superbly equipped, highly skilled, well trained, and extremely mobile.

FROM THE FULDA GAP TO KUWAIT: U.S. ARMY, EUROPE, AND THE GULF WAR, by Stephen P. Gehring. (1998, 2002; 377 pp., illustrations, tables, maps, appendixes, index). CMH Pub 70-56-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00336-8.

This book describes how U.S. Army, Europe, assembled, prepared, and deployed the forces it contributed to the coalition effort to stop Iraqi aggression in the Persian Gulf while maintaining its security responsibilities in Europe and executing planned force reductions.

JAYHAWK!: THE VII CORPS IN THE PERSIAN GULF WAR, by Stephen A. Bourque. (2002; 528 pp., maps, illustrations, bibliography, index). CMH Pub 70-73-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00378-3.

U.S. Army VII Corps' participation in DESERT STORM, including a brief history of the corps from 1862-1945, as well as planning, postwar operations, and analysis of key commanders' interactions and decision-making.

HUMANITARIAN INTERVENTION: ASSISTING THE IRAQI KURDS IN OPERATION PROVIDE COMFORT, 1991, by Gordon W. Rudd. (2004; 280 pp., chart, tables, maps, figures, illustrations, bibliography, abbreviations/acronyms, index). CMH Pub 70-78-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00395-3.

This book is an account of the American-led humanitarian intervention that came to the aid of almost half a million Kurds and other refugees stranded in the mountains along the Iraqi-Turkish border. During the period April to mid-July 1991 coalition forces, working with UN and nongovernmental organizations personnel, first stopped the dying and suffering in the mountain camps and then entered northern Iraq to create a security zone, rebuild the essential infrastructure, repatriate the refugees to their homes, and transfer the relief effort to civilian control.

AFTER DESERT STORM: THE U.S. ARMY AND THE RECONSTRUCTION OF KUWAIT, by Janet A. McDonnell. (1999; 302 pp., charts, tables, figures, map, illustrations, bibliography, acronyms, index). CMH Pub 70-59, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00344-9.

This book describes the role of U.S. Army soldiers and civilians in restoring to the Kuwaiti people physical well-being and political and economic stability in the wake of their country's invasion by Iraq.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY IN SOMALIA, 1992–1994, by Richard W. Stewart. (2002; 28 pp., illustrations and maps). CMH Pub 70-81-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00381-3.

This pamphlet places the events of October 1993—the disastrous Task Force Ranger raid—in the full context of American attempts over a two-year period to bring food and then stability to this troubled African land. Despite the best intentions of the United States, the UN, and dozens of coalition partners, the coalition forces could not in the end keep a peace that the leaders of many Somali factions did not want.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY IN AFGHANISTAN, OCTOBER 2001–MARCH 2002: OPERATION ENDURING FREEDOM, by Richard W. Stewart. (2004; 46 pp., illustrations and maps). CMH Pub 70-83-1, paper.

This pamphlet examines the startling success of a handful of U.S. troops immediately after the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the United States in attacking Taliban and Al Qaeda strongholds in Afghanistan. It first tells the story of how U.S. Special Forces soldiers captured the country in less than two months. The pamphlet concludes with Operation ANACONDA, which resulted in the destruction of a resurgent terrorist base camp and was the largest set-piece battle in Afghanistan up to that time.

This volume describes the transformation of V Corps from a traditional tank-heavy corps committed to a high-intensity battle in central Europe to a lighter, more deployable reaction force simply based in central Europe, exemplifying the changes that confronted the Army at large during the same period.

Vietnam

U.S. Army in Vietnam

ADVICE AND SUPPORT: THE EARLY YEARS, 1941–1960, by Ronald H. Spector. (1983, 1985; 391 pp., illustrations, maps, tables, charts, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-1, cloth, GPO S/N 008-020-00967-9; CMH Pub 91-1-1, paper.

Early American involvement in Vietnam; emphasizes unconventional operations in World War II, military advice to the French during the Indochina conflict, and the U.S. Army's role in assisting South Vietnam to build an effective and self-sufficient fighting force.

ADVICE AND SUPPORT: THE FINAL YEARS, 1965–1973, by Jeffrey J. Clarke. (1988; 561 pp., illustrations, maps, tables, charts, appendixes, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-3, cloth, GPO S/N 008-029-00157-8; CMH Pub 91-3-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00158-6.

This volume, chronologically the last of three projected studies of the U.S. advisory effort in Vietnam, covers the period from the buildup of U.S. ground forces during the Johnson administration to the era of Vietnamization initiated under President Nixon. Highlighted are the roles and missions of the South Vietnamese armed forces, the American advisory effort from theater to battalion level, and the influence of the Vietnamese socio-political context on all American assistance to the Saigon regime.

COMBAT OPERATIONS: STEMMING THE TIDE, MAY 1965 TO OCTOBER 1966, by John M. Carland. (2000; 410 pp., illustrations, maps, tables, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-5, cloth, GPO S/N 008-029-00354-6; CMH Pub 91-5-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00355-4.

A description of the first eighteen months of operations, from the intervention and initial battles to the campaign to buy time while building for the offensive.

COMBAT OPERATIONS: TAKING THE OFFENSIVE, OCTOBER 1966 TO OCTOBER 1967, by George L. MacGarrigle. (1998; 485 pp., illustrations, maps, table, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-4, cloth, GPO S/N 008-029-00339-2; CMH Pub 91-4-1, paper.

An account that begins with the onset of offensive operations by U.S. Army forces and concludes with growing uncertainty in the struggle for the countryside.

IMAGES OF A LENGTHY WAR, by Joel D. Meyerson. (1986, 1989; 225 pp., illustrations, maps, index). CMH Pub 91-11, cloth, GPO S/N 008-020-01031-6; CMH Pub 91-11-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-020-01032-4.

Coverage in pictures and brief narratives of all aspects of U.S. Army activity in Vietnam from 1945 to 1973, including combat operations, base development, training, deployments, equipment and weapons, construction, aviation, the enemy, the environment, pacification, Vietnamization, and withdrawal operations.

MILITARY COMMUNICATIONS: A TEST FOR TECHNOLOGY, by John D. Bergen. (1986; 515 pp., illustrations, maps, diagram, bibliographical note, glossary, index). CMH Pub 91-12, cloth, GPO S/N 008-020-01034-1; CMH Pub 91-12-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-020-01035-9.

The Army's experience with communications technology in Vietnam; analyzes the development and operation of new systems and the effect these systems had on intelligence, logistics, combat operations, and command and control.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS: THE MILITARY AND THE MEDIA, 1962–1968, by William M. Hammond. (1988, 1990; 413 pp., illustrations, maps, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-13, cloth; CMH Pub 91-13-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-020-01123-1.

A history and analysis of military relations with the news media in Vietnam during the early American involvement.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS: THE MILITARY AND THE MEDIA, 1968–1973, by William M. Hammond. (1996; 659 pp., illustrations, maps, tables, bibliographical note, index). CMH Pub 91-2, cloth, GPO S/N 008-020-01393-5; CMH Pub 91-2-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-020-01401-0.

This sequel focuses on tensions between the press and the military during the latter years of the Vietnam War and on the issues and problems that can confront an open society in war.

German Studies

The following CMH historical studies were previously published as DA Pamphlets. Except as noted, these studies were prepared by senior German commanders based on their personal experience.

MILITARY IMPROVISATIONS DURING THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN (DA Pam 20-201, 1951; CMH ed. 1986, 2004; 110 pp.). CMH Pub 104-1-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00142-0,.

The massive effort against the Soviet Union forced the German Army and Luftwaffe into tactical and logistical improvisations that would become permanent features of the war in the East.

COMBAT IN RUSSIAN FORESTS AND SWAMPS (DA Pam 20-231, 1951; CMH ed. 1986; 39 pp.). CMH Pub 104-2, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00143-8.

The numerous dense woodlands and swamps that covered the western portions of European Russia presented severe problems for the German invaders and occupation forces.

NIGHT COMBAT (DA Pam 20-236, 1953; CMH ed. 1986; 49 pp.). CMH Pub 104-3, paper.

Combat operations and movements at night became increasingly prevalent as the war in the East dragged on. Initially untrained for such combat, the German Army developed night combat tactics and techniques out of necessity.

TERRAIN FACTORS IN THE RUSSIAN CAMPAIGN (DA Pam 200-290, 1951; CMH ed. 1986; 60 pp.). CMH Pub 104-5, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00144-6.

The numerous rivers, swamps, and forests and the endless steppe lands of the Soviet Union confronted the Germans with extensive tactical and logistical problems unanticipated by planners and largely left unsolved during the campaign.

EFFECTS OF CLIMATE ON COMBAT IN EUROPEAN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-291, 1952; CMH ed. 1986; 80 pp.). CMH Pub 104-6, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00145-4.

Climatic conditions of European Russia varied from bitterly cold, long winters to dry, hot summers, interrupted by wet, rainy springs and falls that virtually halted all ground movement. The German Army was ill prepared or ill equipped for Russian winters and paid a huge price for its negligence.

GERMAN DEFENSE TACTICS AGAINST RUSSIAN BREAKTHROUGHS (DA Pam 20-233, 1951; CMH ed. 1988, 2004; 80 pp.). CMH Pub 104-14-1, paper, GPO S/N 008-029-00183-7.

The Germans had to develop tactics to counter Soviet breakthrough operations. The Germans, especially in the war's early years, were often successful in sealing off and destroying Soviet penetrations.

OPERATIONS OF ENCIRCLED FORCES: GERMAN EXPERIENCES IN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-234, 1952; CMH ed. 1988; 74 pp.). CMH Pub 104-15, paper.

The Soviet-German war was marked by numerous encirclements, first of Soviet units and, as the war continued, of German units as large as entire armies, such as the 6th Army at Stalingrad. Fighting encircled became a frequent occurrence for German commanders, and their experiences at Klin, Cherkassy, and Kamenets-Podolskiy are related here as well as an analysis of the critical role of air support when fighting encircled.

SMALL UNIT ACTIONS DURING THE GERMAN CAMPAIGN IN RUSSIA (DA Pam 20-269, 1953, 2004; CMH ed. 1987; 289 pp.). CMH Pub 104-22-1, paper.

Case studies of German infantry, armor, and engineer units from company to battalion level in offensive and defensive actions that also include small unit operations in the Arctic, forests, river crossings, and antipartisan warfare.

WARFARE IN THE FAR NORTH (DA Pam 20-292, 1951; CMH ed. 1987; 24 pp.). CMH Pub 104-24, paper.

From June 1941 through September 1944, German forces fought the Soviets in the Arctic and sub-Arctic as allies of the Finns. This work compares German, Finnish, and Soviet tactics, equipment, and organization and discusses the unique terrain features.

CD-ROM

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND WORLD WAR II, SET 1 OF 7, designed by Teresa K. Jameson. (2002). EM 0192, GPO S/N 008-029-00376-7.

A four-disc CD-ROM containing the 11 combat volumes in the World War II series on the European and Mediterranean Theaters of Operations. It also contains a detailed study of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's role as the Supreme Commander, Allied Expeditionary Force, two volumes on logistical support from the Normandy invasion to the end of the war in Europe, and a volume on the complex task of supplying aid through Iran to the Soviet Union. See pages 18–20 above for detailed descriptions of the works contained.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND WORLD WAR II, SET 2 OF 7, designed by Teresa K. Jameson. (2002). EM 0222, GPO S/N 008-029-00380-5.

A four-disc CD-ROM containing the fourteen volumes in the World War II series on the war in the Pacific and on the Army's role in China, Burma, and India. Disc 1 contains Strategy and Command: The First Two Years covering the period before Pearl Harbor to late 1943. Disc 2 contains Cartwheel: The Reduction of Rabaul, Seizure of the Gilberts and Marshalls, and Campaign in the Marianas. Disc 3 traces the march to victory in The Approach to the Philippines, The Return to the Philippines, Triumph in the Philippines, and Okinawa: The Last Battle. Disc 4 then moves on to the three Green Books on the Army in the China-India-Burma Theater. See pages 17–18 and 21 above for detailed descriptions of the works contained.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND WORLD WAR II, SET 3 OF 7, designed by Teresa K. Jameson. (2004). EM 0223, GPO S/N 008-029-00387-2.

Providing an overview of the war, this three-disc CD-ROM contains five volumes from the World War II series plus the forty campaign and topical pamphlets that CMH published to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the conflict. The World War II series Green Books include Chronology: 1941–1945; United States Army in World War II: Reader's Guide; and three pictorials: The War Against Japan, The War Against Germany and Italy: Mediterranean and Adjacent Areas, and The War Against Germany: Europe and Adjacent Areas. See pp. 26–27 and 31–33 above for descriptions of these books and pamphlets.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND WORLD WAR II: SET 4 OF 7, designed by Teresa K. Jameson. (2004). EM 0224

This three-disc CD-ROM is the first (Part 1) of two CDs containing the Technical Services volumes in the World War II series. It contains the three volumes on the Chemical Warfare Service, the three volumes on the Ordnance Department, the three volumes on the Transportation Corps, and the three volumes on the Signal Corps. See pp. 21–25 above for detailed descriptions of the works included.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND WORLD WAR II: SET 5 OF 7, designed by Teresa K. Jameson. (2004). EM 0225

This three-disc CD-ROM is the second (Part 2) of two CDs containing the World War II series volumes on the Technical Services. It contains the four volumes on the Corps of Engineers, the four volumes on the Medical Department, and the four volumes on the Quartermaster Corps. See pp. 22–24 above for detailed descriptions of the volumes included.
